Bilingual institutional publication presents the UDV to foreigners

The necessity of presenting our religious institution to the authorities in the 11 countries where the UDV is located motivated the creation of the bilingual magazine (Portuguese/English), “União do Vegetal: the right for the religious use of Hoasca Tea”.

Magazine covers in Portuguese and English

In the publication, our society presents its religious and social practice with illustration and easily-understood language.

Among the topics covered in the magazine, we highlight: a) União do Vegetal as a Brazilian and international religious group; b) the right for the religious and responsible use of Hoasca Tea; and c) scientific evidence that the tea is harmless to the health.

The publication will be available to the associates through “Nossa Loja” (“Our Store”) on Mercado Inca (www.nossaloja.udv.com.br) beginning on July 22nd.

International study with respect to Hoasca

We are resending the link for access to the questionnaire in English, which gives access to the worldwide study “Global Ayahuasca Project”, with the recommendation for participation by the associates of the Center:
